FARM AND GARDEN

CORRECT PRUNING.

The Right and Wrong Way Illustrated and Described.

The question frequently arises when to prune. Among the earlier horticulturalists this question was often discussed as follows: Prune when your knife is sharp. This is a comparatively safe method to follow with most plants, but when the plant has been the recipient of an excessive amount of fertilization it is not so easy to prune in this indiscriminate fashion, remarks New England Home Gardener. The work must necessarily be done at some particular season and carried on in a systematic manner after some definite plan.

With most orchardist and gardeners pruning can best be done during the winter or early spring months, and where the object is the removal of small branches the season is not so critical as in the case of a more extensive pruning. In fact, pruning during late

PROPER AND IMPROPER PRUNING.

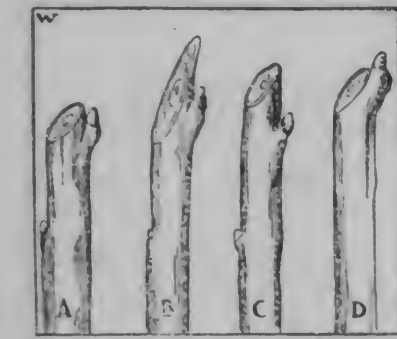

Pruning should be done in the late fall or early spring. The object of pruning is to remove all dead or injured branches and at the same time modify the plan so as to have a maximum quantity of wood in order to secure a good crop of fruit, which might not be possible were the usual practice of pruning half the annual growth followed in such seasons.

With apple and pear, which suffer less from winter killing, the usual pruning can as well be done in March in the north as at any other time. With the grape, however, which is liable to produce a heavy flow of sap if the pruning is delayed until late in the season, it is undoubtedly best to do the pruning during the late fall and early spring months.

When pruning involves the removal of annual growth rather than large branches, the cut should invariably be made immediately above a bud, as shown in the first figure at A. Never cut as indicated at B, C and D. All smooth cuts that are made should be left smooth—that is, if it is necessary to use a saw in removing a large branch the cut surface should be left smooth and clean, particularly around the edges.

To obtain best results in removing large branches two cuts should be made—that is, the branch should be sawed off eighteen or twenty inches above the point of its origin to prevent splitting down and tearing off a considerable portion of the bark. After the weight of the branch has been lessened by cutting away the main part a second cut can be made and the stub held in position until the cut is completed. This prevents the splitting down and tearing of the bark which are likely to result from the careless removal of large branches.

The evil results of splitting can be overcome frequently by cutting first on the under side of the limb and then upon the upper side, as shown in the second figure, so that the breaking of the tissue occurs near the middle of the limb instead of at one side. When this is the case, tearing and splitting seldom occur.

Farmers' Institutes.
Not the least of the benefits of farmers' institutes is that they are teaching farmers to think when standing on their feet and facing an audience. The old fashioned farmer felt himself an awkward in public. He could sit and see holes in the other fellow's argument, but he became speedily a victim of stage fright when he needs to express his own views.—Iowa Home-Steid.

Burn the Branches.
Never leave prunings of trees and bushes lying around. Burn them in the garden fire, and you will know, then that all the insects upon them are destroyed. The wood ash, too, is an excellent fertilizer for every crop grown, but especially useful for tomatoes and all fruits.—Gardening.

The Fox-Jack Louse.
The scale under which the house louse is known to most insecticides, and during a certain season the house can crawl about or be carried from place to place by birds, hares, winds, etc. Strong, healthy trees soon succumb to the attacks.—Farm Journal.

BRAMBLE FRUITS.

Much Arduous Work in Selection and Cross Breeding.

In considering the hybridization of the rubus, or bramble, fruits, Rural New Yorker states that the process of improvement in bramble fruits is particularly slow and uncertain. There has been much arduous work in selection and cross breeding, and there is but little reason for it to be a common old way. Acres of seedlings have been grown only to be discarded, and large stocks of especially promising new ones have been worked up only to discover some overwhelming defect.

Accidental Finds.

The good kinds that stay with us have, with scarcely an exception, been accidental finds. Many intentionally bred varieties have been introduced, but none appears to have made its mark. Hybridizing work among the rubus, or bramble, fruits has always been extremely disappointing. If there is well marked variety or specific difference between the parents, the progeny is quite likely to be unfruitful. Sterility has proved the bane of the grower of crossbred raspberry or blackberry seedlings.

Imperfect Blooms.

It is almost an exception to rule one with normal bloom and perfect berries. Even close bred or self pollinated seedlings are likely to have imperfect blooms, and the chances of sterility are enormously increased in the offspring of diverse parents. Thus all our very numerous hybrids of the Japanese whinberry (Rubus phoenicolasia) and the European blackberry (Rubus fruticosus) are made up of many individual drupes or fruits, each enclosing a seed, the result of the action of a pollen grain on an individual stigma and ovule. If a number of these essential organs are poorly developed or lacking, the berry will be correspondingly imperfect. The compound nature of these berries, with their great multiplication of organs, explains to some extent the comparative rarity of really perfect flowers among seedling plants.

A NEW ROSE.

Of Free Flowering Quality and a Beautiful Pink.

The new pink rose Aurora, here shown from Gardening, is said to be the result of a cross between Bon Silene and Souv. du President Carnot, and it has inherited the free flowering qualities of the former and the strong growing habit of the latter. The flowers are large and full and are produced on strong and stiff stems, with a rich dark green foliage. The color is a beautiful dark pink and wherever shown attracted much attention. The keeping quality of the flowers is excellent. Aurora is easy to grow and does not need a high temperature.

The Gladiolus.

It is an acknowledged fact among all growers of summer flowering plants, shrubs and bulbs, be he professional or amateur, that there is no flower grown which requires so little attention and care and so limited a capital commensurate with the results as the gladiolus. Although it is a flower which is especially adapted for indoor blooming after the buds are well developed in the garden, still a most magnificent display can be secured by planting en masse or by the use of this flower as a background for continuous blooming dwarf annuals. With a succession of from two to three plantings about two weeks apart there would be no lack of bloom during the entire season in our northern climate, and with more plantings our flower loving friends in the south and warmer climates could prolong the blooming season.—Arthur Cowen, New York.

Pruning Rules.

A writer in the Garden Magazine is authority for these common sense pruning rules:
Prune regularly, not spasmodically.
Study your trees; each one is a new problem in pruning.
Head in young trees; thin out old trees.
Prune in early spring.
Prune close; don't leave stubs.
Paint all large wounds.

Neither Too Early Nor Too Late.
About March 15 uncover bulb heads and the hardy border. Leave the mulching material handy, so that you can replace it if there is danger of a freeze. Most people uncover too early or too late. Uncover early and do all you can to gradually harden the tender young shoots, advises a grower near New York city.

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourne, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

ACCORDING to a report which has just been made by the United States office of public roads there are now either planned or under construction no less than 15,000 miles of public highways. Some of these, of course, may not be completed; some may be abandoned; the fact remains that the good roads movement is under way most decidedly. Projects include such ambitious undertakings as continuous highways from Montreal to Miami, Fla.; from Vancouver, B. C., to Tijuana, Mexico; from Cumberland, Md., to Tacoma, Wash.; from Washington to Jacksonville, Fla., through the capitals of the seaboard states; from Niagara to New Orleans; from Morehead City, N. C., to Paint Rock, Tenn.; besides many other roads in Delaware, Texas, Iowa, Missouri and Tennessee. Two roads are named for Lincoln: the Lincoln memorial, from Washington to Gettysburg, and the Lincoln way, from Louisville to Nashville. The Clay-Jefferson memorial proposes to unite Niagara Falls with New Orleans by way of Zanesville, O., Maysville, Ky., Nashville, Tenn., and Meridian, Miss. In addition to these public movements for road improvement, there are many private undertakings along the same line, the most notable being the duPont State Highway, which Col. Coleman duPont is building at a cost of $2,000,000, and will dedicate to the state of Delaware. It will be 110 miles in length, and run through the state from north to south. This is the most important donation made to good roads by any American individual.

Ed Howe's Country Town Sayings.

A woman doesn't mind admitting that she wears puffs and things that didn't grow on her head, but she will change the subject quick if you talk about false teeth.

When a man needs a whipping it will do him even more good to get it than when he was a child.

Nearly every man has an idea he can sing, and will join in when the band plays something he thinks he knows.

Have you ever seen the girl with the curly hair and peachblow complexion before breakfast, when no body but the family was around?

Girls are natural actors, even the most timid can gracefully emerge from a situation that would completely confound almost any man.

Some people have an idea that they are showing suavity by capriciously criticizing everything they see and hear.

There was never a woman who was satisfied with her photograph.

Some people are so timid that they are never impatient except in friends.

One of the greatest accomplishments in the world is to be able to back up the minute you find yourself going wrong.

More people seem to be reaching that desperate frame of mind where they don't care if the neighbors do know what they do on Sunday.

The better you get acquainted with a man and his wife, the more sure you discover that they are a little afraid of each other.

One rich man's son, who has all the money he can spend and nothing to do, will spoil ten poor young men in the course of his life.

I have often been severely criticised because of failure to appreciate a song as much as the girl who sang it.

Take an occasional chance; the sure things are all tied.

Farm Land Values Have Increased.

Of marked interest, because of many statements made during the Canadian reciprocity debate, was the Census Bureau's announcement of the latest general farm statistics of the United States, showing that land in farms more than doubled in value during the past ten years, having increased $15,254,788,000 or 118 per cent. In 1900 they were valued at $13,051,033,000 and returns of the thirteenth census show they are now worth $28,381,821,000.

Farm lands, farm buildings and farm implements of the country are valued at $35,859,663,000 compared with $17,356,425,000 ten years ago. The number of farms in 1910 was 6,340,120 as compared with 5,737,372 in 1900, an increase of 11 per cent. The land increased in 1900 from 835,092,000 acres to 873,603,000 in 1910, or 5 per cent, but a larger increase, 15 per cent., is noted in improved acreage, which in 1900 was 414,490,000 acres, and in 1910, 477,424,000 acres.

More conspicuous than the increase in the number and acreage of farms has been increase in the improved values of farm property. The land in farm rose in value from $13,051,033,000 in 1900 to $28,381,821,000 in 1910, an increase of 118 per cent., and during the same period the average value per acre of all land in farms rose from $15.60 to $32.50, or 108 per cent.

Farm buildings, which in 1900 were valued at $3,556,714,000, were reported in 1910 as worth $6,292,025,000, an increase of 77 per cent. Farm implements and machinery reported in 1910 was worth $1,161,817,000 and ten years previously as worth $749,778,000, show an increase of 68 per cent.

How to Mend Post Roads.

Senator Swanson of Virginia wants congress to appropriate $100,000,000—twenty million yearly installments—for the improvement of post roads and rural delivery.

The rural delivery service now brings in a deficit of about $28,000,000 a year, because of the limitations of our mail policy, which compels the rural delivery wagons to carry from one-tenth to one twentieth of a fair load.

If a parcels post service were established on the rural routes the sending of about one to ten cent package a week by our four million families served would increase the postal revenue by forty millions a year.

For years the government has laid upon the shoulders of the whole people a burden which should have been paid by postal traffic. Under cover of an academic theory that the government ought not to go into the express business, we have allowed enormous profits to be extorted by private interests and, besides, have carried the load of a great postal machinery which we refused to utilize fully.

There has been nothing more foolish among our economic follies. Doubtless Senator Swanson's criticism of our post-roads and his demand for betterments are justified. But the way to provide them is by a rational postal policy which shall utilize our postal plant to the full.

A parcels post will do more than Senator Swanson asks, and it is to be hoped he will roll up his sleeves and work for legislation for this sensible extension of our postal service.

Indigestion

Stomach troubles are but a symptom of, and are in itself a true disease. We think of dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific disease—nothing else.

It was this fact that first attracted Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular stomach remedy—Dr. Shoop's Indigestion Cure.

For stomach distress, heartburn, indigestion, and for all the troubles, ailments, and diseases which are the result of indigestion, try Dr. Shoop's Indigestion Cure. It is a true and reliable remedy, and will cure you of all your troubles and ailments.

Mc has "Big Ben," one of the best alarm clocks on the market.

Roark's furniture polish is somewhat better than the rest, and is sold considerably cheaper, and with the broadest guarantee—money back if not better than any you ever used.

Let Mc fix your clock.

The condition of Mr. M. B. McDonald was reported as more favorable yesterday. His fever has not been alarming, but there are some complications that have arisen that at times are serious.

The lecture delivered by Dr. Fred Mutchler at the court house last Thursday night on "The Restoration of the Soil" was heard by a crowd that fairly filled the auditorium, and all enjoyed the talk. The regrettable thing about it was that there were not more farmers in attendance. The doctor is a practical man, and his ideas should be followed largely by tillers of the soil in this county, as we have thousands of acres of land that could be made productive, by proper treatment.

Give Miss Lena Arnold your laundry, goods called for and delivered.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dockins lost a new born boy last Wednesday night, and burial was at Hazel Creek church Thursday afternoon.

Telephone Miss Lena Arnold and have your laundry called for and delivered promptly.

It is reported that a motor bus at Madisonville last week earned an average of $50 per day in carrying people to and from the fair grounds. The car had a capacity of 20, and only 10 cents per passenger was charged.

The county W. C. T. U. convention was held yesterday at Central City, and several members from this place were in attendance.

The remarkably cool weather we have been getting this week, when the thermometer has registered below 60, has been the cause of much comment and many guesses have been made. Our solution is that one extreme follows another, and we are due an equalizer for the torrid wave that we endured.

Farmers Asked to Hold Wheat.

The Home Milling Co., which is building a concrete mill of latest pattern, and a 25,000 bushel elevator at the depot, is bidding for the wheat of the county, and will pay the highest prices. They will be ready in a few weeks to receive wheat and will be glad to have farmers to hold what they have to put on the market. This is a county institution, in which many people are interested financially, and in which everyone should be concerned, as it will be a great benefit to all.

"Fill the gaps" is the cry now in the pavement agitation. There is so much concrete pavement in town now that every effort is being made to induce the making of it unanimous.

A child of Myrtle Bard, colored, died in town Monday night, and was buried Tuesday afternoon in the west end cemetery.

The cooler evenings have made possible social gatherings, and the weather conditions have been fully improved lately.

Mr. Will Warren has four horses that are suffering from catarrhal pneumonia, and they are being treated by a veterinarian. There have been quite a few such cases in the county, and in other counties there have been some deaths of horses reported from this cause.

There is considerable interest being taken in the primary election Saturday, and both candidates for representative, Mr. J. F. Doss and George Baker, are stirring about some in this the last few days of the campaign. The race has narrowed to these two gentlemen, and there promises to be some running.

See what progress the Muhlenberg County Savings Bank is making, as shown by its statement published elsewhere. It is pleasing to the stockholders and assuring to the general public.

Hear varied selections on the Victor talking machines at Roark's. The world's best music, as well as all the popular selections, speeches, bands, orchestras, instrumental solos, quartettes. Victrolas range in price from $10 to $100. Victrolas $75 to $250. Large library of records and all kinds of talking machine supplies.

Louisville excursion Sunday afternoon.

Car Load of Bank Mules.

Mr. Chas. E. Martin returned Tuesday from St. Louis, where he went to buy a carload of bank mules for the Greenville Coal Co. The car of 30 has arrived, and will be used at Powderly and the new operation at Martwick. This is the largest lot of such mules ever brought to the county at one time, perhaps, and is only another indication of our growth in coal productions.

From the activity here among chicken thieves, it is thought that perhaps some persons do not know that stealing chickens is a felony, and that since this has become a law there have been few failures to convictions, and usually with a pretty stiff penitentiary sentence.

It has been cool enough this week for some persons to have early morning fires. This is a very unusual July condition.

Read Briz's bid for business; it is straight from the shoulder, and means all it says.

The Boy Scouts, with their girl friends, enjoyed Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rogers, where they were entertained. Decorations and the program of entertainment were appropriate to the occasion, and those who attended declare that this was one of the most enjoyable gatherings of the members.

Death of Henry Hayes.

Mr. Henry Hayes died at Asheville, N. C., last Friday, after an illness of some years from consumption. He was a son of Rev. J. H. Hayes, and had spent many years of his life here. Some years ago, on account of declining health, he went to Asheville, and that climate was beneficial, adding to his days. His body was brought here, arriving Monday, and interment was made at Friendship Tuesday afternoon, many persons attending. He is survived by his wife and one child. The funeral service was conducted by the Red Men.

District Conference, A. M. E. Church.

The district conference of the Russellville district of the A. M. E. church was in session here at Wesley Chapel the latter half of last week, and concluding Sunday. Rev. Golf, station preacher at Russellville, presided, and was assisted materially by the local pastor, Rev. Irvin. There were about fifty delegates in attendance, and they all were provided with homes among our colored people. There was general interest in the proceedings, and a liberal response to the collections, $212 being raised for general conference purposes and $30 for Atkinson College, the church school at Madisonville, besides lesser amounts for other purposes. The Russellville district is the largest in territory of any in the state.

If you want that dead watch or clock put to work, let Mc have it and he will put it to running.

The moving picture show will remain until the end of the week, anyway.

Mrs. J. L. Rogers entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. F. Wallace, of Corinth, Miss., and her elegant home was the center of local social members. Following the various forms of amusement and entertainment, refreshments were served the guests.

If you are a Republican you may vote Saturday.

No better summer resort was wanted than was this place the first of the week.

Visitors in automobiles continue to harass us.

Mr. T. F. Drake is now with W. H. Brizendine and Co. and will be glad to see his many friends there.

Republican primary election will be held in the county next Saturday, to name a candidate for representative.

The patronage extended the baby show has been splendid, and the management has decided to remain another week, making some extra strong features for the balance of time.

Death of James D. Mann.

Mr. James D. Mann, in his 32d year, died suddenly at Central City at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. For some time he had been unwell, but was apparently improving. About 8.30 o'clock that morning he suffered from a cerebral hemorrhage, followed by convulsions, and he was never conscious after his attack. The body was brought here to the home of his sister, Mrs. E. Reynolds, and prepared for burial. James Mann was a genial, generous young man, was widely known, and had many friends. His untimely death has caused wide sorrow among friends here and at Central City. His family has the deepest sympathy of all. The funeral will be held today at 3.30 o'clock at the home of Mr. E. Reynolds, and interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Annie Mann, and the following brothers and sisters: Mr. Chas. Mann of Russellville, Mrs. E. Reynolds of this city; Mr. Ed Mann, of Paoli, Ind. and Mr. Estill Mann, of this city.

Saturday will be saving day if you get some of the several specials which Briz is offering that day. Look 'em over, as some of them will appeal to you.

Greenville's attractiveness as a summer resort is appealing to many persons, and almost every home has one or more visitors.

Mrs. J. F. Rice has as visitors her father, Mr. C. P. Elgin, and her sister, Mrs. W. F. Wallace and daughter Fennie, of Corinth, Miss., who will be here some weeks.

Good roads cost money, but bad roads cost about four times as much.

Our showers have been light, just enough to save growing crops, and a good rain is still needed.

Master James Lam Arnold was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Arnold last Saturday night, and is a vigorous member of the family.

Go to the election Saturday—if you are a Republican, or want to become one.

THE RECORD 50c, per copy.

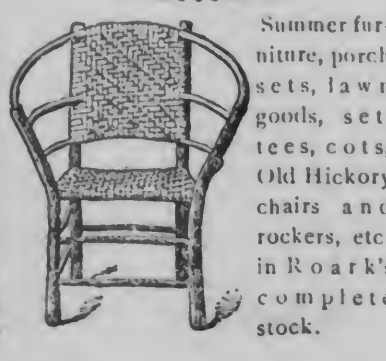

The concrete foundation work on the W. G. Duncan bungalow is under way, and will soon be completed, when the carpenters will continue the work. This will be the most beautiful interior of any home in the county, as only the finest native and foreign woods will be used, finest figured mahogany playing an important part in the finish. The house will not be ready for occupancy until late fall.

The $1.75 excursion to Louisville will leave here at 3.54 next Sunday afternoon, returning will leave Louisville at 4 p. m. Tuesday. A large number of people from this section is planning to go.

McCracken has the largest stock of dials for timepieces ever carried in the county, and can fit anything from the court house clock to a toy watch.

Chicken Thieves Active.

Night prowlers have been active for several nights past, and the special object of their visits have been chicken houses. Mr. John Shutt found someone in his chicken house one night recently, and went out to investigate. He carried with him a .45 caliber revolver, and when he saw a man with both hands filled with chickens he took a shot at the culprit; he did not shoot to hit the man, but to scare him, which he did, as the chickens were dropped immediately, and the man was allowed to make a getaway, though Mr. Shutt declares he could have shot him if he had desired. Mr. W. G. Duncan lost about 50 chickens, but did not discover it until next morning. Mr. C. Y. Martin and Mr. Dave Kimmel are among other losers, and now a close watch is being maintained by several persons, and it is likely that some one will be caught, if further depredations are attempted.

HOME MILLING CO.

Is Building One of the Most Modern Mills in the Country Near the I. C. Depot.

Stockholders Meet Tuesday and Elect Officers and a Board of Directors for Year.

The Home Milling Co., incorporated, held a meeting here Tuesday and elected the following officers: C. E. Martin, president; W. G. Duncan, vice-president; Geo. H. Johnson, secretary treasurer-general manager. The following board of directors was chosen: C. E. Martin, W. G. Duncan, John F. Green, John M. Corley, George H. Johnson. The company is now having built near the depot one of the finest flour mills in the country. The machinery is of the very latest pattern, and the buildings and elevator will be of reinforced concrete, while the spoutings and bins will all be of fire proof material. The mill will be of 75 barrel capacity, and will be operated by electricity. All machinery will be of ball and roller bearings, the very latest and most economical of operation. The mill building proper will be 30x40 feet, three stories and basement, and a warehouse 30x50, while the elevator will have a capacity of 25,000 bushels. Mr. Johnson, the manager, is a practical mill man with many years' experience, and he has associated with him many of the best business men and farmers of this section. Nothing more generally beneficial to the county could have been introduced, and the success of the company is assured from the beginning.

Water Company Buys Building.

The Greenville Light & Water Co. last week purchased from Mr. J. F. Green a house and lot on Main street, near police headquarters, and will move into the building as soon as some repairs and alterations have been made to fit it for their offices. The lot is 24x80 feet, and the price of $650 is considered as a very good investment. The building will be extended and repaired by Mrs. Mattie Rowe, the owner, and will be occupied as a mercantile establishment.

Burr Grist Mill.

My new burr grist mill is in operation; call on your merchants for White Flint meal. Also ready to furnish the public with chicken feed and chopped corn.

The highest medical authority on foods,

Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D.—F.R.S. of London,

gives the best reasons for eating more Quaker Oats

In an article published in the Youth's Companion of September 23rd, 1909, Dr. Browne, the great medical authority on foods, says, about brain and muscle building—
"There is one kind of food that seems to me of marked value as a food to the brain and to the whole body throughout childhood and adolescence (youth), and that is oatmeal."
"Oats are the most nutritious of all the cereals, being richer in fats, organic phosphorus and lecithins."
He says oatmeal is gaining ground with the well-to-do of Great Britain. He speaks of it as the mainstay of the Scottish laborer's diet and says it produces a big-boned, well-developed, mentally energetic race.
His experiments prove that good oatmeal such as Quaker Oats not only furnishes the best food for the human being, but eating it strengthens and enlarges the thyroid gland—this gland is intimately connected with the nourishing processes of the body.
In conclusion he says—
"It seems probable therefore that the bulk and brawniness of the Northerners (meaning the Scotch) has been in some measure due to the stimulation of the thyroid gland by oatmeal porridge in childhood."
The Scotch eat Quaker Oats because it is the best of all oat-meals.

Walking.

It is the teaching of nature and of medicine and the common experience of mankind that the body does not exercise itself and rusts. This is freely conceded by everybody, but not everybody, alas! translates his belief into practice. Unless exercise can be varied and made pleasant it is a tedious business. Swinging Indian clubs, raising dumb bells or going through the various movements of the "Chinese gymnastics," so popular a few years ago, soon becomes monotonous. The man who can keep it up every day, year in and year out, possesses an enviable will power that is in itself skin to prints. Fortunately, no one is compelled to do this, indeed, it is better not to do it exclusively, for indoor exercise is insufficient, and a good substitute for tennis, golf, rowing, and, best of all, because it is the power of all able-bodied persons, walking.

By walking is not meant strolling. That is better than sitting in an arm chair by the fire, for it takes one into the open air and ventilates the lungs and stirs up the sluggish circulation in a measure, but it is not walking exercise.

In a brisk walk of forty minutes or more, a man exercises all the muscles of his body, he studies the abdominal organs into mental activity, he fills his lungs with fresh pure air, and so helps them to discharge their duty of purifying the blood; he quickens and strengthens the heart action, so that the blood, now well aerated in the lungs, flows in full stream to the brain, and washes out all the poison with which the every day work and worry has clogged it; and at the same time the ever-changing scenes in city streets or country roads stir the current of thought. Mind and body alike are renewed, and all this without conscious effort, if the walk is taken with a purpose.

The purpose can be found, for there is always an errand which one can do for himself or another. The business man especially, the one who needs more than any one else this life-giving exercise, can get it by walking to or from, or to and from, his office.

This may seem irksome or time-wasting at first, but with a little perseverance it soon becomes a habit. Then very soon its benefits are recognized; one by one disagreeable minor symptoms disappear, meals are properly digested, sleep becomes a matter of course, and those first few extra pounds of flesh at which the family physician has looked askance insensibly disappear. The wise man will not readily abandon a habit which brings such certain reward.
